

What is your lymph system?

Lymph nodes are part of the lymphatic system of your body. They act as filters and remove things that do not belong, such as bacteria, viruses, dead cells, debris, and cancer cells.